

80/20 Online Teaching: The Key Practices of Online Learning

In this 75-minute session, we'll review both teaching and course-management practices that create a rich student experience and help instructors keep their investment reasonable. The session will be a mix of direct instruction, large-group interaction, and Q&A.

- The two things that matter most to your students
- Tips and tactics to manage your online teaching life
- Moving large classes into the online environment
- How to conduct live video sessions with students

About the Presenter

Aaron Johnson is a veteran online educator, Associate Dean of Educational Technology at Denver Seminary, and author of Excellent Online Teaching: Effective Strategies For A Successful Semester Online. His current writing project is Teaching With Zoom: Teaching Online with Video-Conferencing. Mr. Johnson's work focuses on making online learning more human and making it more manageable for teachers.

Recording

- Webinar Recording

Presenter Resources

- Teaching with Zoom - Teacher Essentials
- Teaching with Zoom - Student Essentials
- Rubric - Student Contribution to Online Learning Community
- How Timeboxing Works and Why It Will Make You More Productive
- Hattie Ranking: 252 Influences And Effect Sizes Related To Student Achievement
- The Jigsaw Classroom
- Active Learning: Creating Excitement in the Classroom
- Active Learning: Creating Excitement in the Classroom see pp 12-15 for beginning, middle and end of lecture activities
- Flipped Learning
- The Discussion Book: 50 Ways to Get People Talking
- Test-enhanced learning: Using retrieval practice to help students learn
- How Peer Instruction and Polling Have Changed My Teaching
- Twilight of the Lecture
- Introduction to Communities of Practice

Shared Faculty Resources

- Nicole Shakerley's Canvas Homepage Buttons